

Students need an easier way to organize homework because assignments are hard to keep track of. Many students forget assignments or deadlines because they use too many apps and websites. This can cause stress and lower grades.